BURLEY TOBACCO POOL OF 1910 IS DECLARED OFF BY BOARD

Hurried Meeting of Society Representatives Decides That This Year's Pool Is A Failure.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 17.—By a resolution adopted by a unanimous vote at 11:54 o'clock Saturday night, the District Board of the Burley Tobacco Society officially declared off the pool of the 1910 crop. The pool will have a technical existence only until the individual growers themselves have acquiesced in the action. This acquiescence will probably have effect in the sale of a vast quantity of tobacco Monday, as the growers are released of all obligation.

Passing with the Burley pool also is the independent pool launched by Georgetown last Wednesday. By a declaration sent to the meeting here, the founders of the new movement concur in the course forced upon the Burley Board.

In a statement prefacing the resolution, President LeBus outlined what may be the policy of the Burley Tobacco Society. He was vociferously applauded when he referred to a possible cut-out of the 1911 crop and said that those in the 1909 pool should demand a fair price for the 1909 crop even if they had to hold it.

The only speech of a session continuing until mid-night was delivered by Col. Joel B. Fort. He made a very eloquent presentation of the position of the growers, saying that they had been forced to retreat, but that they would never consider surrender.

The call for the extraordinary session was unexpected. In explanation of the call, President LeBus stated that the flooding of the country by trust buyers and their success, had decided several members of the Executive Committee Friday that to release those in the pool was the only just course. It was agreed to wait until Saturday for further developments. Reports continued discouraging, and the Executive Committee resolved to call the District Board together.

Members were notified by wire, and over thirty members reached Lexington by evening trains.

Following is the resolution adopted:

"Moved that we approve of the action of the President in calling the District Board in extraordinary session.

"Since it has been reported to us that large numbers of tobacco growers outside of the pool, especially in the so-called Blue Grass counties, are selling their 1910 tobacco, and that the buyers are paying from 12 cents per pound up without even seeing the crops, and paying no attention whatever to the quality, we feel it our duty as representatives of the tobacco poolers of the 1910 crop to now recommend the declaring of the said 1910 pool off so far as our authority extends.

"We are of the opinion that it would be unjust to those who have been so loyal for the past four years and who by their sacrifice and allegiance have made the tobacco market to hold them while the opposition takes advantage of the situation.

"Our judgment in this matter is based upon existing conditions and as representatives of the people, we feel it our imperative duty to use whatever power we possess to relieve our loyal friends of any obligation incurred by signing the 1910 pooling contracts."

Before action was taken on the resolution, reports were heard from all county chairmen. Without exception they took the view that the outlook was hopeless as a result of the influx of trust buyers, who, they reported, were flooding the country like a tidal wave, buying crops without even inspecting the same. These excursions had demoralized the pooling rallies called for Saturday.

President LeBus acknowledged the necessity of retreat with characteristic gameness, and looked to the future with uncompromising resolution. "We are forced to back-track, but only to get a stronger foothold," he declared. "Tonight the patriot gets on equal terms with the dumper. He has a like opportunity to dispose of the 1910 crop to the best advantage. I hope that you will demand a fair price for your 1909 tobacco, and if necessary, hold it indefinitely. If it becomes imperative, the 1911 crop can be cutout from border to border."

BEATTYVILLE BANK

CLOSES ITS DOORS

Directors Have Been Meeting Daily But Were Unable to Prevent the Failure.

BEATTYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 17.—The National Bank of Beattyville closed its doors Saturday afternoon. National Bank Examiner-at-large Percy H. Johnston is in charge of the institution. The failure was caused by the bank's inability to pay several checks for large amounts that were presented at the counter.

The National Bank of Beattyville, succeeded the Bank of Beattyville in 1905, and at the last published report, September 1, had a capital of $25,000 and a surplus fund of $3,000 and deposits aggregating $60,000. Examiner Johnston has been in Beattyville all of this week. The directors have been meeting daily, but were unable to prevent the failure. At this time it is not known just what the final outcome will be.

INSTANTLY KILLED ON EXCURSION TRAIN

John Doty Shoots Ed. Bryant as Result of Trivial Quarrel on Board Cincinnati Special.

John Doty shot and instantly killed Ed. Bryant just as the excursion train from Cincinnati left Paris Sunday night. The men had been engaged in a quarrel and were drinking on their way from Cincinnati. It is stated by witnesses that Bryant had severely cut Doty about the face and that he shot Bryant in self defense. The conductor on the train caught Doty as soon as the shooting took place and held him until he arrived in this city and turned him over to officers Strode and Ballard when the train arrived in this city. Both were dead. Doty lived at Lancaster and Bryant at Stanford. Officer Ballard took Doty to Paris Monday morning.

IS KILLED BY ELECTRIC WIRE

John H. Hockman, Democratic Candidate For Common Pleas Court, Drops Dead at Ohio Home.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Oct. 15.—John H. Hockman, Democratic candidate for Common Pleas Judge in this district, fell dead at his home in North Defiance Friday night.

The cause of death is uncertain. It may have been heart failure, or electrocution from an electric wire, as the tips of his fingers were burned.

He had gone into a bathroom to shave, and it is believed that, in turning on an electric light and water at the same time, he received a shock from the light to the water spigot, dying instantly. Apparently he had been in the best of health.

Mr. Hockman was born in Defiance county in June, 1865. He was graduated from Ohio Northern University. He practiced law in Defiance, and in 1896 was elected Probate Judge. June 18, 1910, he was nominated for the Democratic Common Pleas Judgeship.

MADE MOONSHINE TO SECURE EDUCATION

Young Mountain Boy Wanted to Finish School and His Chance in Life For Success.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 15.—Fired by the desire to secure an education, D. W. Zey, an 18-year-old mountain boy, of Dawson, Ga., started to making "moonshine" liquor in order to secure the necessary funds and soon fell into the hands of revenue officers. In the Federal Court Friday he told this story:

"I wanted to finish school and have a chance in life. I didn't have any money. I'd been teaching, but couldn't find a school this summer. The crops were all planted and I couldn't get any farm work to do. I was offered 20 cents a gallon to make moonshine whisky and I took it, because I wanted to go back to school."

Advising the boy to go back home and make his money some other way, Judge William Newman suspended sentence.

EPOCH MAKING TRIP TO EUROPE

Walter Wellman With Crew of Five Men, is Sailing Along New York Coast.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 17.—Sailing into a thick fog that hung low over the Atlantic ocean Saturday, Walter Wellman, with a crew of five men, is believed to be on an epoch-making voyage to Europe in a huge, cigar-shaped airship, the American.

Starting from the beach a few minutes after 8 o'clock the big craft was soon out of sight of the cheering crowd. Since then no one with the possible exception of ships at sea, has seen the strange craft and only word from her came by means of wireless. Numerous messages were received during the day and the latest indicated that Wellman was easily sailing along the New York coast.

GERMAN HEIRESS CHOOSES HUSBAND

Newspaper Advertisement Brought Forward, Henry Oliver Brown, Building Wrecker By Profession.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Miss Eugenie Adams, the German girl, who in order to inherit a fortune left by her uncle in Germany, had to marry within a week after being notified she was an heiress, has chosen her husband. A newspaper advertisement brought her the man in three days.

Miss Adams offered $200 to any man who would wed her and then go with her. Suitors came by the hundreds, and Friday Miss Adams selected Henry Oliver Brown, 34 years old, a native of Warren county, Penn., a building wrecker by profession and heat wrecker by confession.

Accompanied by a woman reporter Eugenie sat in an office and the 10 selected suitors were allowed to enter, one at a time. Having drawn for precedence, Brown went first. Eugenie looked over all the others and then sent for Brown. A sailor in costume was a close second.

There were tears rolling down the bride's cheeks when she said:

"I'm so glad it's settled. I'm going to have a husband after all, and I will get the money left me by my uncle in Germany. That's what I want."

"Aw, I'm not going to bother her," said Brown. "I'll swear I'll beat it when the ceremony is over. Honest I will. I'm doing it for the money."

The bride and groom were taken to a lawyer's office to have "the parting-at-the-altar" contract drawn up in legal form.

SEN. DOLLIVER

DIES SUDDENLY

Osteopathic Physician Unexpectedly Discovers That He Could No Longer Hear Heart Beats.

FT. DODGE, Ia., Oct. 17.—United States Senator Jonathan Prentiss Dolliver died of dilation of the heart caused by an attack of acute indigestion at his residence at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night while being rubbed by an osteopathic physician. Senator Dolliver's sudden demise was wholly unexpected by his relatives and close friends who thought he had almost entirely recovered from an attack of indigestion with which he had been suffering for a week.

Senator Dolliver had been up all day and had made the trip from his residence downtown. He told several of the men whom he met that he believed he had completely recovered from his indisposition which followed his trip through Wisconsin on a speech making tour for Senator La Follette.

While working over Senator Dolliver the osteopath physician was using an instrument to listen to the Senator's heart action. The physician unexpectedly discovered that he was no longer hearing the heart beats. He at first thought the instrument was faulty. Examination revealed that the patient was dead.

Reaching into Ketchell's pocket he removed the pugilist's 38-calibre revolver and struck him on the head with it, then he ran from the house.

Investigation of Hurtz's belongings led the officers to believe his real name is Walter Dipley and that he is from Webb City, Mo.

The trouble between Ketchell and Hurtz is said to have started Friday when the pugilist upbraided the ranch hand for beating a horse. This angered Hurtz. Ketchell had just come down to the ranch, which adjoins one he recently purchased, to spend a few days.

Hurtz thought Ketchell was going beyond the province of a visitor to take him to task for his abuse of the animal. It was Ketchell's custom, while staying at the ranch house, to sit at the table with his face toward the door leading into the house, the lining room being built in an old porch.

Saturday morning Hurtz entered carrying a rifle and said to Ketchell: "Throw up your hands." Ketchell, not realizing the seriousness of the situation smiled and started to rise and walk toward Hurtz. Before he turned completely around Hurtz Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—Increased pay from 10 to 17½ per cent. is booked for 4,000 L & N conductors, brakemen, flagmen, baggage men and train porters. This announcement was made Saturday night after a conference of almost two weeks of the General Committee of Adjustment of the Order of Railroad Conductors of the L. & N. railroad, followed by conferences with General Manager B. M. Starks.

The conductors held their sessions at the Galt House and met with Mr. Starks at the L. & N. offices. They adjourned at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, when official notice of their action was given out by A. R. Dye of Nashville, Tenn., chairman of the Adjustment Committee, and L. B. Walcott, of Evansville, secretary. Their statement was as follows:

"A satisfactory adjustment of the wage question between the Louisville & Nashville conductors and the management has been concluded, based on the Washington agreement of the Southeastern Association, which carries with it increased pay varying from 10 to 17½ per cent. The brakemen, flagmen, baggage men and train porters.

The increase becomes effective November 1. It is stated by Chairman Dye that none of the employees affected will receive less than 10 per cent., but details are not made public.

In only one inning, however, did this prove disastrous. This was the fifth inning and it all started with clear hits. In this inning Craycraft led off with a single. Barkley followed with another and so did Portley. Craycraft tried to score on

STANLEY KETCHELL

DIES OF WOUNDS

Champion Middleweight Pugilist of the World is Killed By Walter Hurtz, a Farm Hand.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 17.—Stanley Ketchell, champion middleweight pugilist of the world, died here Saturday night at 7:05 o'clock, as a result of being shot by Walter A. Hurtz, a ranch hand.

The shooting took place on the ranch of R. P. Dickerson, a friend of Ketchell, near Conway, 40 miles east of here. An hour before he died Ketchell regained consciousness. His condition soon took a decided change for the worse, however, and he died quickly. The pugilist died in a Springfield hospital, where he had been rushed after arriving here from Conway on a special train, chartered by Dickerson.

The shooting occurred at the ranch of R. P. Dickerson, a friend of Ketchell, near Conway, 40 miles east of here. An hour before he died Ketchell regained consciousness. His condition soon took a decided change for the worse, however, and he died quickly. The pugilist died in a Springfield hospital, where he had been rushed after arriving here from Conway on a special train, chartered by Dickerson.

Three physicians were on the special. An operation was performed at the ranch house in the attempt to locate the bullet. It was not found. A report from Conway has it that a 22 calibre rifle bullet, the same pattern as that which inflicted Ketchell's wound, was found on the floor of the room in which the shooting took place. Out in the wooded hills, Hurtz, Ketchell's slayer, is fleeing before a pack of bloodhounds and a posse of officers and citizens. Dickerson has placed a price of $5,000 on the body of Hurtz. The members of the posse are armed with repeating rifles. Hurtz is believed to be a desperate man and none intend to take any chances on asking him to surrender. He will be fired upon sight. Hurtz will battle for his life, if he shoots at all, with the revolver of his victim.

After shooting Ketchell, who was at the breakfast table when he was shot, Hurtz rushed from the house into the yard. He then faltered a moment, turned and went back into the room where Ketchell lay upon the floor.

Reaching into Ketchell's pocket he removed the pugilist's 38-calibre revolver and struck him on the head with it, then he ran from the house.

Investigation of Hurtz's belongings led the officers to believe his real name is Walter Dipley and that he is from Webb City, Mo.

Portley's hit but Crane fielded the ball fast to Marmalott and caught him at home. Carrick hit to Crane and would have been the third out but Prewitt lost his head and ran off first and Carrick, who should have been an easy out, was safe and Barkley scored.

After this session the Roxa Kolas tightened up and the visitors never reached the second station again.

The Roxa Kolas were unable to hit Lynn in succession until the ninth when they turned apparent defeat into victory.

Watson, the first up, doubled to center. Shea followed with a single to left, Watson taking third. Edwards, then hit a sacrifice fly to center and Watson made a dash for home and was easily safe, but Lynn and Craycraft began an argument with the umpire and while this was going on, Shea scored the winning run.

The features of the game was the pitching of Edwards, the fielding of Shea, Lindsey, Abbott and Sable and the batting of Craycraft, Barkley, Carrick, Crane, Watson and Shea.

THE PASSING OF LEBUS.

"De mortuis nil nisi bonum."

We were inclined to exult when we first heard of the downfall of Lebus. In fact, we asked a friend to write us a story of "The Morgue," meaning Lexington, the burial place of enterprisers which while prosperous in Winchester died soon after their removal to "Hossville."

But when we remembered the millions of dollars worth of 1909 tobacco still tied up in last year's pool and the share of Clark citizens in that stake, we decided to say a little as possible. All patriotic citizens should lend at least their interest and sympathy to prevent the American Tobacco Company from robbing the growers on the tobacco in the pool.

The pool idea is not dead. It is unfortunate that Lebus becomes champion. It renders conservative men suspicious of "oolie." But the formation of a stronger and greater pool among white burley growers depends absolutely on the American Tobacco Company. If the trust continues to pay fair living prices for tobacco all well and good. If it returns to the tactics of a few years ago, nothing can prevent a new pool.

We were inclined to be disappointed with the result of the meeting of tobacco growers on Saturday. We had hoped to see the formation of a Clark county independent pool. But in the light of the results of Saturday night the action in calling a growers' conference at Winchester on Tuesday week is probably the best possible step which could be taken.

The ironcladness are riding the Blue Grass counties paying 12 cents and over for tobacco. If these prices still obtain, no further move is necessary. If old tactics are pursued, we will form a new pool on next Tuesday.

NATIONAL BOTTLERS'
ASSOCIATION MEETSMr. G. Lee Wainscott, Representative of Kentucky, is Honored by Members at Convention.

Mr. G. L. Wainscott, manager of the Rosa Kola plant in this city returned from Philadelphia Saturday night when he has been as a delegate from Kentucky to the convention of the National Bottlers' Protective Association.

Mr. Wainscott was the only representative from this State at the convention, having been appointed the delegate at the Kentucky bottlers' meeting in Louisville in August. The State Association could have found no better representative, as Mr. Wainscott soon became a prominent figure at the convention at Philadelphia and was styled the "Kentucky Baby," this being the first time Kentucky has been represented at the National meeting.

The first honor bestowed upon him was being made secretary of the nominating committee. Later he was made a member of the executive committee and by the virtue of this office he becomes a director of the American Bottler, a paper published for the benefit of the bottlers all over the country.

Once set adrift icebergs find their way into the Labrador current and begin their journey. But of all bergs so set adrift only a very small proportion ever drift their way into the path of the transatlantic steamships.

Nor do all bergs take the same course. Some go south; others lodge against the shore or against islands.

Two years may separate the time that two bergs reach a low latitude, though they were "calved" at the same moment.

Field ice also offers an obstruction to the icebergs, though by their great size and bulk they often act as plows and aid materially in breaking up the ice fields which obstruct the arctic basin.

Ice fields are more affected by the wind than are icebergs. Bergs generally drift with the current, so that one sometimes is seen moving into the wind.

Advantage is taken of this by the sealing and fishing boats when caught in an ice field. They often moor to an iceberg and are towed miles through the ice, through which otherwise they could make no headway. This is accomplished by sinking an anchor into the berg and using a strong towline. As the berg advances open water, with small floating ice, is left astern.

But this is indeed a dangerous thing to do. All ice is brittle, but especially icebergs. A blow of an ax has been known to split one, while the report of a gun at times will accomplish the same end.

In July and August, when the bergs are breaking up along the coast of Labrador, the noise at times is deafening, and the noise of one often causes another to break up.

From their very nature icebergs assume an endless variety of shapes. Some resemble geometrical figures, while others carry fantastic domes, spires and minarets. Sometimes they appear to be veritable ice bridges, with two separate supports. In many there are great caves and indentations. As they drift south and begin melting cascades of water pour down their sides or run from the tips of the hundreds of icicles which depend from every ledge.

Frequently there are outlying spurs in the water, as dangerous to ships as submerged reefs. For this reason vessels should always give them a wide berth, half a mile being considered the nearest that one may be approached with safety.

Several years ago the British steamship Nessmire ran into an iceberg and stove in her bows. When she was docked a scratch was found next the keel the full length of the ship, the plates being almost cut through. The ship evidently struck a submerged spur. The government report says:

"It is generally best for ships to go to windward of them, because disintegrated fragments have a tendency to drift to leeward, while open water will be found to windward."

So nicely are icebergs balanced in the water that the slightest melting sometimes will cause the center of gravity to shift, and the entire berg will capsize or founder. Thus many ships have been wrecked.

Field ice is formed throughout the waters within the arctic circle south as far as Newfoundland, and each year vast floes leave the shores and drift south into the paths of commerce.

The arctic ice often has lived through several seasons in the far north and occasionally is ten to fifteen and sometimes twenty feet thick. Because of its continual motion, due to currents, wind, etc., gradually it becomes broken up. Swells from storms in the open seas cause it to raft or pile one pan on another—in the arctic every piece of field ice is a pan—until it is covered with hummocks.

Ice also becomes rafted by the grinding of a free field against another frozen to the shore or by the grinding of two fields against each other when one is given a turning motion by contrary wind and tide. This rotary motion, it is said, is particularly dangerous to ships that get caught between fields.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Entertain For Bride-To-Be.

Mrs. A. J. Earp and Miss Eunice Earp entertained on Saturday at their elegant home on Lexington avenue in honor of Miss Alice Nummell a charging bride-to-be of October.

Mrs. Earp in a beautiful gown of cream poplin; Miss Earp in a lovely girlish costume of heliotrope silk, and Miss Nummell, in an elegant creation of blue grenadine over blue silk, trimmed in passementerie of pink rose buds, and wearing a cluster of bride's roses; received the guests.

The handsome home was decorated in red, immense astors and asparagus being the chief adornments.

In the dining room, where Miss Sallie McDonald in a soft costume of pink silk mull, gracefully presided, the table bore a miniature fish pond, formed by a handsome mirror, with tiny figures of an angling maiden and her lover. Red candles with shades to match cast a pretty glow over the entire scene, while the cut glass bowls, which contained the dainty mints, lent a sparkling radiance.

After an elegant meat course had been served, the guests were shown into the library, where Miss Jane Gaitskill, in a beautiful baby blue costume, was in charge.

In the hall, the guests wrote eloquent bits of wholesome advice for the prospective bride in a handsome registry book, hand-painted in apple blossoms, over which Miss Annette Cole charmingly presided.

The affair was the first of many elegant events which will be given as compliments to Miss Nummell.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oliver, of Pittsburgh, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earp.

Clifton B. RossLOSE BY SCORE OF 42 TO 0

Wesleyan Suffers the Worst Defeat
Saturday in the History of its Long Existence.

Saturday was a bad day for Kentucky Wesleyan and they suffered a defeat at the hands of State University by a score of 42 to 0, the worst that has ever happened in its long history.

In the first quarter State used its first team against Wesleyan and during the first few minutes of play succeeded in making the first touchdown. In this quarter two touchdowns were made by the visiting team. Wesleyan held the ball only a few times and lost it on kicks in order to get it away from goal.

Under the new rules a team has the right to change any or all of its players during the game and when the second quarter was called State's second team took their positions on the field and the first team stayed out.

Their second team is almost as strong as their first and they went at the Wesleyan line with as much fury as did the first, with the result that they made two goals. Wesleyan towards the end of this quarter received the ball and had almost succeeded in pushing it over the goal line when the whistles called the quarter. This was the only time it seemed they would score.

In the third quarter the second team of State made one touchdown and one field goal. The first team after being thoroughly rested were put in again in the fourth quarter and made two more touchdowns.

Wesleyan was simply outclassed in every point. The State team will average about 50 pounds more to the man and have been in constant training since their school opened. Wesleyan also had some of their best players out on account of injuries. Lane was the only one who seemed able to cope with the visitors and he was used most of the time and made good gains on end runs.

Two hundred State students came over on a special L. & E. train to witness the game. They held sway at the park and urged their favorites on with their college yell.

Following is the line-up of the Wesleyan team:

The officials were—Dr. McKinley, of the University of Virginia, referee;

Ogden, Wesleyan; McClure,

Winchester, head lineman.

MARKETS

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—WHEAT—Wheat shorts covered again at the close yesterday. Whatever snap there was on the buying side on the swells Friday was due either to covering by shorts or an effort by a group of pit traders to work for a temporary rally because of the generally oversold trade. There is in the local trade a feeling of caution about pressing, the selling side on breaks and this is the very thing which has kept most people who were bearish and right in their opinions from making much money on the decline of the past thirty days. It may be a little better support is due as the price works lower, but there is not change enough in the underlying conditions to suggest anything but the selling side on the good swells.

CORN—On any good swell we ask our followers to be ready to take the selling side for a lower level than yet recorded.

PROVISIONS—Gelt says 7,000
hogs against 8,000 estimated and 7, 000 last year. Shorts led the buying yesterday. As prices advanced there was some improvement in the outside business and mostly on the buying side in the way of an improvement.
The hog market will be watched now as the action of the market will be governed by it.
